

"As I See It"

By LANGLOIS

Having given you the picture of the palatial sleeping quarters of the average lumber camp of forty some years ago, we will now take up the dining hall. Before we go to that, I will have to stop a moment to get the bull cook in the picture.

You remember when we shipped from Spokane, I mentioned a character who hired out as a bull cook. This knucklehead had no experience whatsoever in a lumber camp. He had been looking the slave boards over, and when asked by some of the fellows what he did he told them he was just out from the east and had no camp experience. So the boys gave him some friendly advice such as signing up as a bull cook.

That's just what this bird did. They informed him all he had to do was wash a few dishes.

Now a bull cook is the flunky who has to haul in all the wood used in camp to cook with, heat the bunk house, the ramrod's quarters, the wannigan and the office.

He also washes the dishes and the pots and kettles used in the dining room and kitchen.

He also had to haul water for the cook and to all the other quarters. This was packed on a stone "boat," with three barrels.

He also had to be the first one up, to call the cook and mule skimmers at 4:30, the bunk house at 5:30 and the high powered push at 6:00. He waited table from then on. At 10 p.m., if he worked fast enough, he was through. So you can see he got up early and went to bed late.

For this he was paid $20 a month, plus his bunk and board. Eighteen hours a day, at $20 a month, and then somebody talks about the "good old days."

The cook in this outfit was a character known as Canvasback—a name he got from the fact that he used a piece of tarp as an apron. In appearance he was a skinny shoat, with handle-bar mustaches. Some of his front teeth were missing, due no doubt, to a difference of opinion with someone. He wore a fur cap with flaps, night and day. He did not believe in the use of water for either drinking or washing.

Add to that a corncob pipe filled with a concoction called corn cake, that sold for 25c a pound, which was a fixture between a missing upper and lower molar. He was greasy and irascible, with the disposition of a sick mink and the smell of a rutting billy goat. This was our chef. Trouble started between him and the bull cook right off the bat.

One thing needed for a good fire was dry wood. The dry wood that was available had been fire killed in the past. As a result it was charred, so that when the cook got hold of a piece of charred wood while mixing a batch of sour dough biscuits, fireworks started. It almost made the cook wash his hands, something that would probably have been to much of a shock to his system. An experienced bull cook would have known better.

A description of the bull cook would not be amiss. This monkey had been baptized "Porky" by the camp. The reason for this was that he had the most harmless facial expression ever carried by any human. I can't say he had a receding chin, because he had almost no chin visible.

Large pale, blue eyes, reminding one of a frozen, wall-eyed pike, and to top this off, he like the rest of the wood hogs, let his whiskers grow. They grew in patches, a dozen or so here and there. He resembled a porcupine, which resulted in the name "Porky." In fact, no one in any camp, ever seemed to use his proper name. Every camp had a Slim, Shorty, Fat, Curly, Red or else named from the last place he came from. I was known as Kallispell, that being the last place I had logged.

The trouble between "Porky" and his superior was a dinner in the camp for awhile. "Porky" was trying to keep up with his work with the result that he failed to rinse the soap out of the coffee pot and dishes. This resulted in an epidemic of dysentery so that for a time every pine or tamarack tree a hundred yards from the bunk house was used as a rest room.

Two men died, the rest of us recovered.

The old standby in those days was blackberry brandy, but this was a dry camp, so we used a horse liniment, called Kendall's Sprain Cure, to make a drink to cure cramps. It was a honey. If a fellow happened to be sitting when he poured a glass of this nectar, the object he was sitting on began to smoke.

The cook was more fortunate, he had his own private coffee pot and did not get the dysentery. Besides, he was known as a Jake hound. This means an addict of Jamaica Ginger extract. To get a true picture of this dysentery deal, also remember that the piece de resistance in camp diet is baked beans. It remained for us who were not partial to the taste of horse liniment to make a deal with the cook for some lemon extract. This made a sort of atomic ambrosia that if continued would cause a man to see creatures of the Tertiary period in vivid colors, obscuring his vision. One weakened old coot, known as Curly because he was bald as an oyster, was a "jake hound." He took on so much during the epidemic that he got a caterpillar obsession. He claimed that six inch hairy caterpillars

Television To Help Fair's Search for Teen-Age Talent

The San Diego County Fair this year turns to television in its annual search for teen-age talent and will conduct a series of county-wide auditions that will start soon and run until fair time.

Henri Warner of Jamul, who is director of special events at the county fair this year, was in Lakeside this week making arrangements for private auditions to be held at the Grammar School here April 4.

The half-hour program by Lakeside will be presented on the main stage from 11 to 11:30 o'clock.

Mr. Warner will interview all contestants at that time, from high school or junior high school, who may wish to enter in any of the following acts:

Acrobat, dancer, tap, toe or ballet; instrumentalist, novelty act or singer.

All who show talent will be asked by Mr. Warner to appear in a public show at the Community Hall in Lakeside April 14. At this show five winners will be selected to go to San Diego to appear in a television show on April 20. The winner of this show will be given a Gruen watch and will next appear on the stage at the Fair July 6 for the finals. There will be many prizes for the first place winner, as well as prizes for second and third place.

ONE TURKEY TO RACE AND ONE TO EAT!

Each boy entering the Grand National Turkey Championship races at the Fair this year will be given two turkeys, instead of one.

One of the turkeys will be to race, the other to eat come Thanksgiving Day.

The television shows held prior to the Fair will be known as the Hoffman Turkey Talent Shows. Mr. Warner said he believes these shows will be successful both from the standpoint of participants and public interest.

The San Diego County Fair's theme this year is "A Century of Harmony." There will be more fun and entertainment this year than ever before.

Entry blanks for the "Hoffman Turkey Talent Show" may be secured at the Star office or at the office of F. L. Boyd, secretary of the Lakeside Chamber of Commerce.

Woman's Club To Aid Red Cross Campaign

The Woman's Club of Lakeside held an election of officers at their business meeting on Thursday.

Vince Ridge, chairman of the San Diego County Red Cross drive, spoke; also Lt. Gen. Price USMC (ret.) who praised the work of the Red Cross.

The Woman's Club agreed to take over the Lakeside campaign for funds. They will be assisted in their solicitation of the business district by the Lakeside Chamber of Commerce.

of a vivid green color were crawling all over him. After going through a contortionist act trying to brush them off to no effect, he peeled off all his clothes and tore out of the bunk house to roll in the snow.

We finally got him corralled and rolled him in a blanket and fastened it with horse blanket pins. He howled and fought for three days before departing for the golden shore. His remains were laid out to freeze 'till spring thaws softened the ground enough to dig a final homestead.

Open Letter to the County Board of Supervisors

GENTLEMEN: Your attention has been repeatedly called to a condition that menaces the lives of school children, but so far neither you nor the County Road Department have made the least effort to alleviate the condition.

I refer to the curve on El Monte Road, known as "dead man's curve," just east of the new Linda Park School and adjoining the school grounds. That curve is the scene of accident after accident—50% of them being fatal.

Last Thursday, after another of the picnics held at El Monte Park, a group of sailors, who if not drunk, scattered plenty of evidence (in the shape of partially emptied whiskey bottles) that they could have been, came to a sudden stop almost in front of the school, when the convertible they were driving crashed into a eucalyptus tree.

This is not the first time, neither do I think it will be the last time, that sailors from the Eleventh Naval District have used this road for a race track. Nor do I care how many drunks kill themselves, so long as they do not endanger the lives of our children.

What I and other parents are incensed about is that 20 minutes prior to this accident, children of grades ranging from the First to the Fifth were returning home, some in school busses, others walking. The thought of what would have happened had this crash occurred at that time sends a cold chill down the spine of every mother and father who has children attending that school.

I suggest that the Board of Supervisors get in touch with the officers at the Eleventh Naval District and see if there is not some way that 1% of the enlisted personnel can be made to stop disgracing the other 99% whenever they have a picnic at the park.

In the meantime, I suggest that the taxpayers in that district where some fifty new homes, and a new church, have been built, receive some assurance that their children won't be slaughtered on their way to and from church or school. In short, Gentlemen of the Board of Supervisors and the County Road Department, it is time to fish or cut bait. I speak not only for myself.

DO SOMETHING ABOUT THAT CURVE, NOW!

NEIL LANGLOIS.

X-RAY SERVICE IS FOR ALL ADULTS

Every adult (high school age and over) who has not had a chest X-ray, is urged to take advantage of this free service, which comes to Lakeside Friday and Saturday, March 17 and 18.

Because many local people were not able to go to El Cajon when the X-ray unit visited there, the county was asked by the Lakeside Kiwanis Club to send the unit to Lakeside.

The above date was decided to be a convenient time.

Circulars, furnished by the San Diego Metropolitan Mass Chest X-Ray Survey, are being mailed all Lakeside boxholders, and posters are being put up in Lakeside and surrounding communities, asking all to have their chests checked by X-ray, either Friday or Saturday next week.

It is emphasized that it only takes a few seconds to have an X-ray picture taken of your chest. You take a deep breath and hold it—that is all. The picture is then developed like a snapshot. A doctor then examines it for any possible symptoms of TB.

The X-ray unit will be located on the parking lot next to the Barker-Prindle Market.

The unit is open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Transportation is being furnished by the Woman's Club. Two cars, with two ladies in each, will be available for those who do not have transportation. One of the ladies will stay with the children, if necessary.

Those who need transportation from their home to the X-ray unit may phone H. 4-8877 any time between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Tom Barkdull, president of the Lakeside Kiwanis Club, is general chairman of the Mass X-Ray Day Committee.

Other committee chairmen are: Churches—Rev. T. E. Roberts; Hostesses—Kiwanians—Evelyn Barkdull.

Special Service and Transportation—Woman's Club—Mrs. E. J. Henry.

Steering Committee—Kiwanis Club—Fred Mack.

Contact Business Houses—Chamber of Commerce—Jim Hammit.

Publicity—Kiwanis Club—Paul Baker.

A "trailer" advertising the X-ray's visit to Lakeside will be run next week at the local theatre, courtesy Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Kursa.

Mrs. Sarah L. Blantz Interred at Greenwood

Services were conducted from Greenwood Mortuary in San Diego last week for Mrs. Sarah L. Blantz, 72, of Campo, a former resident of Lakeside.

Mrs. Blantz attended school in Lakeside in early days when a shed east of Vine st. served as a schoolhouse.

Besides her husband, William Blantz, she is survived by a son, George Mayer of Vista La Mesa; a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Maier of Long Beach; two brothers, Bill Kuhn of Lakeside and Fred Kuhn of Jamul, and two sisters, Cora Berger of Cottage Grove, Ore., and Rose Berger of San Diego.

Interment was at Greenwood.

Senatorial Aspirant To Visit El Cajon

Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas of Los Angeles, member of Congress, and aspirant for the senatorial post now occupied by Sheridan Downey, will pay a visit to El Cajon Sunday, March 12 from 2 to 3 o'clock.

A guest of the El Cajon Valley Democratic Club, Mrs. Douglas will speak at a meeting at Carpenter's Hall in El Cajon. Refreshments will be served at an informal reception following.

Mrs. Douglas, the wife of actor Melvyn Douglas, left a career in the movies to embark in politics and she has had smooth sailing to date. She is said to be possessed with a vote-winning combination of personality, intelligence and a good speaking voice and is expected to give the veteran Senator Downey a close race in the primaries.

On the reception committee welcoming Mrs. Douglas to El Cajon are the Messrs. and Mmes. John Hunter, Ralph Burnside, Ernest Gehner, Ed Gates, Parvin O'Neil, Leona Dwyer, Mrs. Betty Learned and Mrs. Dorothy Odin.

Maggie Klicka to Be Judge at "Stunt Night"

Maggie Klicka, winsome star of the Town and Country Players, will be one of the judges of the "Stunt Night" show scheduled for April 18 at the Lakeside Theatre.

Twelve organizations have already started rehearsal of stunts and a variety of talent will be on parade. Three handsome gold cups will be awarded the organizations staging the three best stunts. Judging will be by a committee of three.

Mrs. Lyle Isom is in charge of plans for Stunt Night, which is being sponsored by the Linda Park PTA. Further information about entering may be obtained by calling her at H. 4-3910.

NEW ARRIVAL

Catherine Anne arrived March 1 to join her brother, Jimmy, and sister, Francine, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Plummer, at Glenview. The little miss weighed 6 lbs. upon arrival at La Mesa Hospital.

Baptists Sponsor Sunrise Service

Churches from Bostonia, Santee, El Cajon, as well as Lakeside, will join in making the Sunrise Service a success.

The Vacation Bible School plans are progressing nicely. There will be workers who are trained in the work, as well as missionaries.

Thursday night the Brotherhood will meet at the church at 7 p.m. Fred Ambrose will speak. A dinner will precede the meeting and all members are requested to bring a guest.

Following the regular preaching services Sunday night, Mar. 12, there will be a "Fellowship Hour" for the boys and girls from high school age on. All boys and girls are urged to attend these services. There will be games and refreshments.

FOUR-LEGGED CHICK IS LATEST SENSATION

For years the family man who carves the fowl for Sunday dinner has bemoaned the fact that there were only two drumsticks to each chicken, but nobody has done anything about it.

However, times change.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Winner, who operate a small poultry plant on Riverview ave., have produced a red chick with FOUR LEGS.

The little stranger, which would create a sensation on anyone's dinner table, was the only odd one out of a hatching from the Winner incubator.

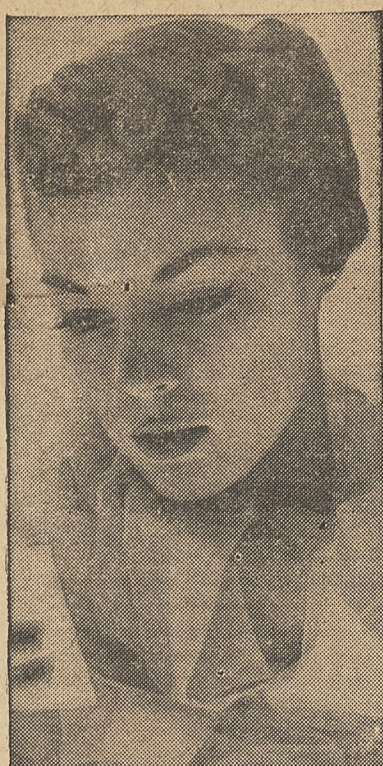

The two extra legs are attached to the chick's body just above the hip joint.

The little fellow is healthy and strong and seems to be satisfied with his unusual physical equipment. When it grows up, it should command a fancy price.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

By MRS. C. J. STINTON

The Girl Scout Organization of San Diego County is attempting a new program to give Girl Scouts an opportunity to save all or part of their established summer camp fee. It is a stamp saving plan which is in the experimental stage in District 3 only.

By this plan the Girl Scouts purchase Camp Saving Stamps at a value of 10c each and at the time of registration for camp the stamp books will be honored at Girl Scout Headquarters for the amount saved towards the girl's camp fee. The stamps are redeemable in case the girl is unable to attend camp.

If this plan is successful in District 3 then it will be turned into a San Diego County plan. This plan should make it possible for more Girl Scouts to attend established summer camps by saving during the school term.

The District Camp Committee which is preparing the summer day camping program will hold its next meeting in Lemon Grove March 15, from 10 a. m. to noon. After the business meeting sack lunches will be enjoyed. There will be crafts and anyone interested is welcome.

Troop 42 (Mrs. Alden Auiler) was absent from last troop meeting because of a First Aid course she is attending but all went well with troop committee member Mrs. Rose in charge.

Following their business meeting the girls celebrated the birthday of Leni Tello with a party given by Mrs. Tello, the girl's mother.

AAUW Meets March 16

Gallagher Seeks Co. Coroner's Office

A. E. Gallagher, deputy coroner, announced this week he will be a candidate for the office of coroner from which Chester D. Gunn, long-time incumbent, is retiring at the end of the year.

Coincident with the announcement, Mr. Gallagher said he will retain his present position March 31 and devote full time to his campaign.

Mr. Gallagher entered county service in 1926 as a constable, a post he held six years. Following this, he was an investigator in the district attorney's office until his appointment, in 1933, as deputy coroner and public administrator. In 1941 he took military leave, and served successively as intelligence officer, assistant shore patrol officer, and then as commanding officer of the shore patrol. On his release from active duty in December, 1946, with the rank of commander, USNR, he was cited by the 11th Naval District commandant for outstanding efficiency and leadership.

His naval career began as an apprentice seaman in 1910, and included service in the Mexican and Haitian campaigns, and overseas in the first World War as a naval lieutenant.

The Gallaghers reside at 1863 Catalina blvd. Their daughter, Joan, is a student at Point Loma high school.

20 Percent Limit For Hay Moisture

A large quantity of hay stored in the mow of a barn is not considered safe from the danger of spontaneous ignition if the moisture content of the hay is more than 20 percent.

Weather-tight barn construction is essential to keep hay from getting wet after it has been stored. Leaky barn roofs can be re-covered with asphalt shingles, which not only provide sound shelter but make the roof resistant to flying sparks from brush fires and other outdoor blazes.

STIRRUP STORIES

By LAURA SPENCER and
VAL ROBBINS

Your news gatherer Laura spent the week-end at home guest of Sylvia Evans at her home in Hubbard Grove.

They were possibly the first to ride over the recently completed section of the new State rider's and hiker's trail between Hubbard Grove and Green Valley. At one spot along the trail a waterfall comes tumbling over the rocks, ending in a beautiful tree-lined stream alongside of the trail.

The trail is very plainly marked with neat markers bearing the letters "R & H Trail." There was one gate on the trail and Sylvia said it was a gate such as one would use for his own front yard.

The new statewide trails are certainly going to be something to look forward to, so let's all stand behind our hard-working local representatives 100%.

The Rock 'N Ride Riders set off on their monthly ride Sunday morning at 10:30. Meeting at Stan Conant's on the Lakeside road the group rode into Panita Ranch to Sycamore Canyon, stopping to eat lunch beside a waterhole.

The horses all had a swim, Philip Geraci having to stand in his saddle to keep from getting his horse "Shayne" a little bit of a swim.

Some excitement, too! A six-button rattler was killed close to where the riders had eaten their lunches. They then rode half a mile further up the canyon to the cabin Josephine is having conditioned for riders to use. We think Josephine deserves a big "Thank You" for her thoughtfulness.

Attending the ride were: Jerry Alken, Evette Gunther, Mr. Hale, Don and Margaret Olson, Jim and Pearl Hall, George Geraci and son Philip, Dick and Neta Hancock, (Neta riding their mule), Marvel Kling, Iona Lillibridge and five dogs, (Neta's got foot-sore so she took the little guy up in the saddle with her).

Stopped to say hello to Wally and Babs Miller and their new son Donald and, guess who was standing at the fireplace mantle drinking coffee? None other than Jim Hall. Was the ride a little hard on you Jim?

Vinette Chalfant and friend Winifred Kirkendall riding along Lexington at Third. Destination unknown, but a friendly greeting from both; a beautiful day and the two seemed to be having a wonderful time.

Saw Jerry Pratt at Bill Tanner's auction Saturday and heard her tell Ora Ross "Just couldn't miss my Saturday club meeting. Get to see all my friends and catch up on the news." It is surprising how many familiar faces you can see there on Saturday.

Don't forget the Rock 'N Ride Riders annual St. Patrick's Doll Dance Friday, Feb. 17, at the Wagon Wheel. Every year this dance is bigger and better. A wonderful evening is promised. Don't forget to attend. Tickets may be purchased at the door if you haven't been contacted by a Rock 'N Ride Rider before the big night.

Combine Kinds Of Lighting, Engineer Says

Too little fluorescent lighting is used in homes, says D. D. Westerberg of the electrical engineering department of Northwestern University. Writing in American Builder magazine, he explains that usually no kitchen or laundry is too small for two 40-watt fluorescent tubes in shielded fixtures.

Westerberg says, "In new homes or in existing residences where kitchens are being modernized, efficient lighting should be given as much consideration as other time-saving appliances. The cost is an insignificant percentage of the modernization cost as a whole."

He says that when two 40-watt fluorescent lights are combined with lighting specifically arranged for the kitchen sink and counter areas, necessary illumination for true color discrimination normally is provided. A small amount of fluorescent lighting with no incandescent lighting to supplement it gives a feeling of untrite color values to most foods and fabrics, the engineer adds.

"Warmth in the home is suggested by combining incandescent recessed sources with long, slender, fluorescent tubes," Westerberg writes. "Combining these components in a practical manner is functional and attractive."

"Nor is it too difficult to make lighting for the home come within the reach of an average pocket-book. With proper planning, these lighting effects are an integral part of the architectural features of the various rooms."

He says the color of fluorescent light is particularly suitable for kitchens, bathrooms and laundry because of the predominance of white surfaces and light-colored finishes in those areas. Fluorescent tubes give higher light output with lower power consumption, the engineer explains.

Referring to the kitchen, he says, "The higher efficiency of fluorescent lighting makes it possible to get as much light at every work center as you do by the window."

May Organize Boy Scouts In Santee

Some interest has been shown in starting a Boy Scout Troop in Santee, now that the older boys see that the Cubs are so well organized.

Any boy, eleven or older may talk to Jack Thompson about joining up in the Charter group.

Several groups are making plans for Friday, March 17, which, besides being St. Patrick's Day, is a school holiday (although not for teachers. They will be at Institute in Balboa Park, hearing Doctor Hollis Caswell of Columbia University, who will speak on "Teachers as Educational Leaders.")

Girl Scout Troop 126 is taking Friday, March 17, as the day to visit the Scout Houses in Balboa Park, and to make a tour of the Union-Tribune newspaper office and plant. Mrs. Royal Underhill, Mrs. Hugh Good and Mrs. Vernon Davey will accompany the girls.

Monday, Mrs. John J. Toynton, Mrs. John Wise, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. James Slaten, Mrs. Harry Elam, Mrs. Arthur Huckaby and Mrs. Albert Alderman went on a chartered bus trip to Los Angeles with a group from the WSSC.

Brute Strickler came down from the mountains and while he was in Santee came down with the mumps, and so continued his visit with Grandma and Grandpa Strickler a little longer than originally planned.

The Stuarts, with small Claudia, Joe and Cherie, left for Long Beach this week-end after a visit with Mrs. Stuart's mother, Mrs. Jessie Bliss. Mrs. Stuart is now running a Richfield station in Compton, but they live in Long Beach.

Bob Rogers and P. R. Lowellyn are on a fishing trip near Yuma. Mrs. Bliss was in charge of serving the dinner to the Exchange Club Tuesday evening. Friends of the Rex Lands, who moved from Santee last fall may now write to them at their new address, 237 East Broadway, Phoenix. They were living in Tempe until recently.

Community Methodist Church
Joining with eight and a half million Methodists across the nation, the Santee Community Methodist Church will mark the week of Dedication, March 5 to 12. The pastor, Rev. Arthur Huckaby, will lead the local observance.

Sunday, March 12, the presentation of a free will offering will be part of the climactic act of personal dedication. In this offering, the Methodist Church will cooperate with 16 other denominations in the "One Great Hour of Sharing" for world relief.

Home Offers Variable Plan

First Floor

This home was designed with alternative exteriors and interiors, enabling the owner to choose the combination which suits his own needs best. Because of these optional major features, the dwelling has been selected by American Builder magazine, 30 Church St., New York 7, N. Y., as its Plan No. 38.

The two exteriors are the same except that one has a steeper roof pitch than the other. The house as shown above has the more gently sloping roof. The steeper roof provides an expansion attic where rooms might be added in the future. For either type of roof, Walter T. Anick, the architect, suggests that the color of the shingles form the basis for the entire exterior color scheme.

Youth Center "On Air"

Television towers are rising rapidly over the roofs in Santee, the Charles Owens family being one of the most recent to acquire a TV set. They, with many other Santeans, were pleased to hear Arthur Huckaby, pastor of the Community Church last Tuesday evening. He had been invited by Harold Keen of the "Local Scene" program of people in the news, to give the television audience the story of the youth center that has been built by voluntary labor in Santee.

Rev. Huckaby graphically described it by showing the miniature block model of the first "dream house" that had been built by one of the members, and telling of the phenomenal success of the entire project.

NO BREAKFAST?

By MARY ELSIE DAVIS

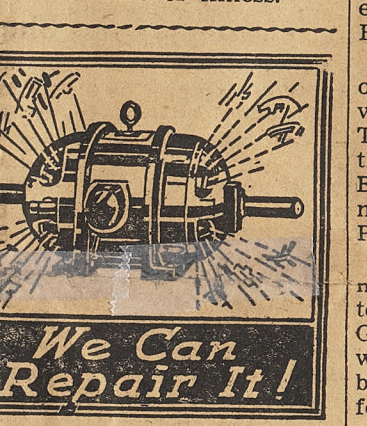

Nutrition Consultant, San Diego Department of Public Health
A mother writes, "I can't get my high school son and daughter to eat breakfast. Have you any ideas that might help me?"

This is a common problem. Elmo Roper made a nationwide study of the habits and attitudes of teen-agers toward breakfast and he found that:

1. On the day of the interview 24 percent of the older boys and 48 percent of the older girls either had no breakfast at all or a very skimpy one.
2. That many of these young people said they didn't have time to eat breakfast. (What can we do about this? Get them to bed earlier, get them up earlier, get breakfast earlier?)
3. Almost 1/4 of the boys and nearly 1/2 of the girls said they were not hungry in the morning (early rising and some work to do before breakfast might help there).
4. Only half of the girls felt that a breakfast was needed.

They seem to think that soft drinks and candy bars are magic food.

One of our teachers has summed up the need for a good breakfast before going to school in these wise words: "If more students ate a good breakfast before coming to school, we would see more A's on the report card and fewer A's on the register because of illness."

Your Kitchen Office

By MARY ELSIE DAVIS

Nutrition Consultant, San Diego Department of Public Health

One of my friends told me recently, "I have so many ideas and plans while I'm doing my cooking, I wish I had a place in the kitchen where I could get some of them down on paper." This idea could be expanded into a sort of kitchen business center. So many chores could be done there—planning, ordering, etc. A place to keep paper, pencils, pen, books, files of recipes and information, cook books and a schedule would be wonderful, wouldn't it? This "office" could vary from a table or desk with chair and telephone to a drawer for supplies and a shelf for writing.

Kitchen business centers serve different people in different ways. Among these are:

1. Need to hold meals for late comers, giving the homemaker odd periods of time for planning of work, or letter writing.
2. Improvement of management practices and habits.
3. Husband's occupation and the need for the homemaker to take messages and report information accurately to him.
4. Increased respect of the family for the mother's equipment and use of this center.
5. And one homemaker has said, "I need a place in my kitchen where I can just sit and think."

It would be an interesting project to look around your kitchen and see whether you can set up a business center there.

Adams of Hutchinson, Kan., Dr. and Mrs. Roy Pettit of Junction City, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Herrick, Mrs. Louise Campbell of San Diego and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lothlen of El Cajon.

Mrs. Thelma Jarret and Mrs. Isabelle Duffy of the Crest attended a lovely luncheon at the home of Mrs. Hildebrand, San Diego, Thursday. Proceeds were to go to St. Patrick's Church, San Diego.

Contrast Adds Interest

This combination of contrasting wall materials is shown by American Builder magazine as a "refreshing" change from the usual unvarying wall finish. The "V" cut horizontal pine boards on the fireplace wall have a rubbed antique finish. The rest of the walls are of plaster, painted a dark color. The bookcase and the simple wood mantel over the fireplace were built as one unit.

—VOLTAIRE

Why all this talk about democracy in our bulletin? For three main reasons: first because we are going to vote on a very important amendment to our by-laws in the near future and we should go at this in a democratic way; second, we are going to have an election of officers soon, a selection of the people, by the people and for the people of our club; thirdly and perhaps of most importance, we as sponsors of youth groups and as leaders in these groups, owe it to ourselves, to society and the youth we serve to conduct our affairs and exert our influence at all times toward true democratic process. We who believe in democracy should practice democracy. In our international, national, state and local government, we as a people have had lots of "talk democracy" but not enough "do democracy." This true democracy of which we speak is not something that was handed us by our forefathers to enjoy forever. But rather it is something that has to be learned, each for himself, as one learns good manners or arithmetic. It is not learned in one easy lesson either; education and practice are essential in developing democratic thinking. Individuals. The place to build a good strong democracy of tomorrow, one that can withstand the threat of Communism is in the schools and other youth groups of today. "Our children" (remember last week's bulletin) must learn and practice the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of both leadership and followership in a free group or society, to become as it were, good citizens.

Some responsibilities of a group are:

1. Remain open minded.
 2. Be a critical listener.
 3. Present your points of view in a positive manner and back your statements up with authentic information whenever practicable.
 4. Present your opinion at the opportune time in order that there may be group thinking about problems discussed.
 5. Refrain from dominating the discussion.
 6. Consider all problems raised as group problems.
 7. Be charitable of others and their opinions.
- "And now abideth faith, hope and charity, and the greatest of these is charity."

Anderson Buys New Well Drilling Rig

R. E. Anderson, well driller of Lakeside, has added to his equipment the only rig of his kind in southern California, a "Ideco" cable tool rig capable of drilling to a depth of 2700 feet. This equipment is also often used for shallow drilling and is the latest improvement in any well drilling equipment, Mr. Anderson states.

The Ideco rig was purchased in Ohio and has been welded to a truck which the Andersons bought for that purpose. A substantial bonus was given Mr. Anderson by the company for being the first from this area to install the Ideco.

The Ideco rig is an addition to the usual well drilling equipment consisting of compressors, lateral machines and rotary rig. It is not intended as a replacement of other equipment now in use, but will be used where deep well work is required.

Mrs. R. E. Anderson and her sons, Rex and Sandy, accompanied Mr. Anderson on the trip, which started February 1.

The truck was purchased in Los Angeles and loaded with six tons of freight which they delivered in Minnesota.

The scenic northern route was decided upon because of easy grade levels for the truck, which had a total weight of approximately 12 tons.

Extremely cold weather and several blizzards delayed their trip. The Bridal Veil Falls which they visited were frozen and the Wabash river which they crossed on the return trip was at flood stage. The bridge over which their truck and well-drilling rig crossed was a foot deep in water.

The Anderson's trip east took them through Utah, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. Returning by the southern route they passed through Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. While at El Paso, the family visited Juarez on a shopping tour.

Relatives of both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were visited during the trip through Wisconsin and Illinois. Mrs. Anderson saw her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Strauss, for the first time in eight years.

The trip ended in Lakeside March 1.

Vol. I Lakeside, California, Thursday, March 9, 1950 No. 34

The following letter was mailed on Wednesday to parents of boys and girls of the 6th, 7th and 8th grade classes of the Sunday school. It is printed here as an open letter to any interested parents who may not have been included on our list.

"Your minister will undertake on five consecutive Friday afternoons, beginning Friday, March 10th, to give the young people of the age group named above, a background of information which will enable them to better understand and appreciate the church. Those who with their parents consent wish to become members of the church, will be received on Easter Sunday.

In conjunction with the communicants' class will be the preliminary stages of the organization of a permanent junior choir under the supervision of the music department of the church. But this does not mean that those who come to the minister's pre-Easter class are thereby obligated to remain in the junior choir. It is believed that the five week period will give the directors of the youth-music program, Mrs. Trigg Stewart and Mrs. Wilson White, an opportunity to appraise talent and interest, and the children will have a reasonable exposure to this type of activity in the church. It is hoped that child and parental interest will be sufficient to plan for junior choir participation in our special Easter music program.

During the five Friday sessions mentioned, the schedule will be directed singing from 3:30 to 4:15. After a momentary break, the minister will for the next thirty minutes discuss the matter of church membership with the boys and girls. Parental cooperation will be at least one important key to the success of this effort. Two specific things will be required:

1. The child must have a note from you to the school authorities granting your permission for him or her, to board the bus which goes directly to Lakeside at approximately 3:15 p.m., and to leave the bus at the Community Church. If the child attends Lindo Park School he should have your permission to walk to the church.

2. It will be necessary for you and other interested parents to arrange to pick up the children at the church at approximately 5:00 p.m.

During the five-week period prior to Easter the minister will endeavor to call in every home that is represented in the class to explain more fully the content and purpose of the course. The junior choir directors will also try to contact each parent to explain and discuss the goal of their efforts."

It should be noted that while boys and girls below the sixth grade level will not be included in the communicants' class at this time, those younger are eligible to try out for the choir.

All readers of this column please turn to the front page of this paper and look for the story on our special music program scheduled for tonight (Friday, March 10th). Parents who have children old enough to enjoy moving pictures, but too young to remain quiet through the program of music, should bring them along. They will be entertained in another part of the building while their parents are in the church auditorium.

Favors Change In Aged Pension Law

Rather than repealing the Relative Responsibility Clause of the Aged Pension Law, Ralph R. Cloyd, member of the Assembly from the 80th District, favors reappraising the law and starting at a higher figure the bracket where relatives are contributing.

In a letter to the Star and Record this week, Mr. Cloyd said the Governor has indicated that at the Special Session of the Legislature, legislation will be considered affecting the Aged Pension Law.

"I would favor," Mr. Cloyd stated, "raising the bracket to eliminate the contribution made by the average man working for a salary, until his salary was above $500 a month."

"On the other hand, if the bracket is eliminated entirely, people who are making a large enough salary to support their parents without hardship to themselves, in many cases would permit their parents to go ahead and draw the pensions, thereby increasing the welfare load which would be reflected in higher taxes that would again come out of the working man's salary, which is already overloaded with taxes."

"Many people would like to see the age limit lowered, but if it were lowered below the age of 65 years, the Federal Government would not participate, and I don't believe that it should be expected of the State Legislature before this age unless the Congress of the United States also lowers the age bracket."

"Some would prefer to have the old age pension under State control but personally, I would favor keeping the administration close to home because I believe the majority of the people also favor this plan. In my opinion, the only reason those who favor the State administration is due to the many complaints about the methods used in making investigations."

"I believe reappraising the Relative Responsibility Clause will also remove the objection that has been made in regard to the investigations. It probably would be a better plan to relieve the Social Welfare Department of the responsibility of collecting the money from those who would still be required to make contributions and put it in the hands of the District Attorney, thereby removing all cause for controversy between the pensioners and the Social Welfare Department."

"CUEBALL"

BY GORENSLOT

Slamming the door against the wind, he made his way to the huge pot-bellied stove that heated the place. Shaking the damper, he threw in a scuttle of coal, opened the draft, then backed his rump to the heater and waited for things to warm up. After some fifteen minutes he began to thaw out, so peeling off cap, coat, overshoes and mittens, he proceeded to get his place in shape for the afternoon.

In the course of a couple of hours, having everything in shape, he then began to check his stock of cigars, tobaccos and candies. While thus occupied, the door opened, admitting a tall, skinny figure clad in a threadbare overcoat, low shoes from which toes protruded, and pants six inches too short. This apparition was topped by a pinched face the color of stove polish, from which a pair of pleadingly at him.

"Mister," said this emaciated black boy, "has you got a job, so I could get something to eat?" Recovering from his amazement at seeing a negro in Vidette, Phil exclaimed, "Boy, where in hell did you come from?"

"I done got off that freight that just come in, mister."

"You mean to tell me you rode a freight in 45 degrees below, and you're still alive?"

"Yes sir," replied the colored boy, "I came from Duluth."

Suppressing his desire for more information Phil said, "Get by that stove and thaw out, while I get you some coffee."

Going to the rear where he had a room with a small range Phil made a pot of coffee, fried eggs with a couple of generous slices of ham, then called the negro. The expression on the fellow's face as he looked at the food made Phil kind of sick. Telling the boy to help himself, he went back to the front. Suddenly the thought came to him, "Cripes," he muttered, "I wanted a porter, and here he is!"

A sound in the rear caused him to go back, where he found the negro doubled up, being very sick. His stomach, unused to so much food, went back on him. Phillip helped him to a cot, saying, "Lay here 'till I come back." Going to the cabinet where he kept his tobacco, he took out a bottle of whiskey and came back to fix a hot shot. This stayed down, so he proceeded to take the fellow's shoes off, which were stuffed with rags the negro had wrapped around his feet. Covering him up with the admonition to stay there, Phil returned to the front where he got on the phone.

Cranking the instrument, he asked the operator to get him Dr. Oberg, who answered after a fifteen minute interval. "Listen Doc," said Phil, "I've got a sick bum here, so get down in a hurry."

"Whatta you mean, a sick bum? If you've picked up some cack marked jack with a hangover, throw him out. There'll be plenty square heads left when he goes."

"Skip the wise cracks and get over here," retorted Phil, "I mean now." This must have convinced Oberg that something was really wrong, so he grunted okay, and hung up.

Phil returned to the back room to look his patient over. He found him as pale as an African of his complexion could get, tossing feverishly and moaning.

As he stood there wondering what to do next, he heard the front door open, accompanied by a blast of Arctic wind, and heard Dr. Oberg's stentorian bellow.

YOUR CONGRESSMAN REPORTS

By CLINTON D. MCKINNON

Do you have enough money in your pockets these days? That is, are the coins you carry around with you of the right amount to conveniently pay for the things you buy?

Early this session several Congressmen introduced bills for new coins. The ones receiving the most publicity have been for new 2½¢ and 7½¢ pieces.

The bills for these new coins were at the encouragement, largely, of soft drink bottlers, candy bar makers, newspaper publishers (whose papers are now selling for seven cents—as in San Francisco and Los Angeles) street car companies, and others who find a nickel isn't quite enough for their products in these inflated times and yet a dime is too much.

The idea of new coins touches off heated debates over whether such a move will contribute toward more inflation or will have a tendency toward relieving it. Arguments also take off over whether it will create more employment and thus help the working man or whether higher prices will make his paycheck shrink in value.

I don't believe anyone can say with certainty just what would happen in this regard, but—along with certain conveniences—the new coins do bring some very practical problems.

I acquired of Leland Howard, Acting Director of the Mint, what some of these would be. He tells me it would cost between $4000 and $6000 for sculptors to prepare the dies, but that this is minor compared to the expense in solving the size and alloy to be used in fitting the new coins into our present monetary system so that they would have a distinctive appearance and size. If we would accept coins with a hole in the center, or square in shape, the problem would not be difficult, but there is antipathy toward that idea.

Mr. Howard doubts whether the new coins would be popular. At one time or another we have had ½¢, 2¢, 3¢ and 20¢ coins but they have been abandoned because they were not demanded by the public. The ones now have are in circulation because they have been the convenient ones, as tested through the years. The new coins, he says, would present a host of problems in other ways. Mechanical change makers used in banks, theatres, etc., would have to be changed; cash registers have no accommodation for fractional coins, nor do adding machines and posting machines. And the use of three decimals in bookkeeping would force a change in ledgers, columnar pads and all other reports.

Consequently, the arguments in favor of 2½¢ and 7½¢ pieces will have to be overpowering before it is likely that new coins will be authorized and minted. The Mission Indian delegation from San Diego County made a big hit with my colleagues the past week. Their request before the House Appropriations Committee that all money for the Indian Bureau in California be struck out was headed—although the Senate will probably restore the appropriation—and when the Indian Affairs subcommittee asked for their complete freedom from the Indian Bureau, they were allotted 15 minutes, but the committee became so interested that it took more than an hour.

One of the Indians, Louis Dyche, rang the bell with many members with an off-the-cuff remark, "The lust for gold by the white man is stronger today than it has ever been—but we can't have a massacre now."

The Indian Bureau Commissioner testified that perhaps the Mission Indians could be granted their freedom—but not immediately as the move would take a period of time to work out.

He said that in Northern California, the Bureau was in charge of tribes whose children could not speak English. Which leads to the observation that if after 100 years the Bureau has been unable to provide education that would assimilate the red man with the white man, it's high time we were making a change immediately.

Paying no attention to Oberg's remarks about it being one hell of a morning to have to come out to look some logging tramp over who should have died at childbirth, Phil motioned him to the rear where Oberg got a look at the patient.

Oberg's face when he saw the moaning colored man was a picture of as many emotions as it was possible to crowd on a Swede's face, but being first a doctor, he quickly moved into action. A quick examination told the story.

He looked at Phil as he straightened up, saying, "Starved, with a case of pneumonia besides. Now tell me, where in the name of Wotan did you pick this up, and what are you going to do with him? The only hospital we have here is the Lumber Company's place for employees; there are no private places, and he'll croak—if moved."

This raised all the mule in Phil, who replied, "You get the pills, I'll fix a bed here and see that he's taken care of. But keep your mouth shut for I'd just as soon the boys knew nothing about this."

Despite his rough exterior, Dr. Oberg was a soft hearted young Swede, with a deep understanding of human nature, and had

Congressman

One day last week a congressman from New York State received a letter from a constituent describing himself as "a fully paid-up Federal taxpayer" and requesting that, as such, he be "immediately allotted" his rightful share of government purchased surplus foods now stored in bulging warehouses.

The man's representative, Mr. Keating, thereupon forwarded the claim to the Secretary of Agriculture with his endorsement and blessing, noting that the value of surplus foods now owned by the government is over two billion dollars. Congressman Keating added: "This surplus could be distributed to families of four throughout the country in this proportion: 24 quarts of dried milk; 11.3 lbs. of prunes; ½ lb. cheese; 24 lbs. of dried beans and peas; ½ lb. of raisins; 80 lbs. potatoes; 5½ doz. dried eggs."

Meanwhile, the House Appropriations Committee last week released a report disclosing that the Dept. of Agriculture paid $20,229,000 for storage of these surplus foods during the first months of 1949. That is at the rate of over $17,500,000 per month, and the storage bill is running even higher now. These figures are for storage only; they do not take into account the cost of transporting the food to the warehouses—nor of later removing some of it, like potatoes, to be destroyed, or fed to cattle, while Canadian potatoes are imported.

Still another development in the food surplus situation came last week when the Secretary of Agriculture, testifying before the Appropriations Committee for his department's budget bill, claimed that he could pay freight charges to ship surplus commodities if they were to be converted to cattle feed, but not if they were destined for human consumption. However, if this interpretation of existing law is an accurate one, a simple and effective remedy is at the disposal of the majority party in Congress, the President and the Secretary of Agriculture, if they care to put it to work.

Along with 23 of my colleagues, I have introduced a bill in the House which would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to advance for freight and handling charges up to the cost of six months' storage on surplus food commodities to be diverted into the school lunch program and cash registers to needy people throughout the country through Federal, State and local welfare agencies. According to the latest figures, there are in the country 2,715,751 persons receiving old age pensions; 1,486,404 receiving dependents and children benefits; 92,000 blind receiving help, and 543,000 on State and local relief rolls.

There are, for example, 725,000 pounds of government-owned surplus food now. Why not bring all these statistics together, for they are more than statistics; they are food and people.

MARRIAGE AND THE FAMILY

By REV. JOHN SHANNON

God in the second chapter of Genesis gave us the sacred institution of marriage. Divine approval was placed upon marriage when he spoke to Adam and said, "Therefore shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall cleave unto his wife; and they shall be one flesh." Thus in biological and social needs the institution of marriage is sacred. The prophet Hosea protested against the double standard of morals for man and woman. This double standard seems to still stand in modern society. The fallen woman is blamed and shunned while the guilty man continues to enjoy the company of respect-able men and women. Modern society is trying to destroy the double standard today but not as Hosea tried to do. Modern society is trying to solve the problem by trying to build up in the minds of people that freedom should be accorded the woman as well as the man. This attitude is taken only by a small minority of people but many of them in positions where their views are expressed so vividly that we are often led to believe that the majority want sexual freedom for both sexes. Witness the filthy love trysts and Hollywood style marriages as they are played up in most of our newspapers today.

Another solution to the problem is to condemn the action of both sexes. This was Hosea's approach and this is his description of the effects of widespread sex immorality: "Whoredom and wine and new wine take away the heart. Their glory shall fly like a bird, from the birth, and from the womb, and from the conception. Their root is dried up, they shall bear no fruit."

Hosea taught, by example, divorce should be the last resort only when all the means of love have been used in trying to attain a successful marriage. In the Old Testament we find the duties of parents to children and of children to parents. The child is taught to have respect for his parents and the parents are taught that they are responsible for moral and religious training in the home.

Ministers, Sunday school teachers and public school teachers all realize that a proper home foundation in moral and religious training outweighs all the teaching and preaching they can give. Parents would be wise to follow these injunctions: "Train up a child in the way he should go, when he is old he will not depart from it." "Correct your son and he will bring you comfort, and give you exquisite delight." "Better is open rebuke than love that is hidden."

"The word and reproof bring wisdom, but a child left to himself bringeth his mother to shame."

Amos and Isaiah agree that the welfare of a nation depends upon the attitude that men and women hold regarding marriage and the family. The good mothers, in their estimation, are not those that are haughty, who walk with heads held high and with wanton glances, who go tripping along, making a tinkling with their feet.

Origin of Comic Strip Names Explained

Al Capp, creator of the L'il Abner comic strip, recently told how he named such characters as Mitzzi Mudlark, Moonbeam McSwine and Dumpington Van Lump, admitting that his "secret source" is the English novelist Charles Dickens.

Writing in the March issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, Capp says, "One of the things I learned from Dickens was the naming of characters. When Dickens created a little boy whose life was twisted, he called him simply 'Oliver Twist'; there's innocence and gentleness, somehow in 'Oliver' and 'Twist' forthrightly says the rest of it. Dickens was a great enough story-teller to call a spade a spade."

Speaking of Mitzzi Mudlark, the cartoonist explains, "I am particularly fond of the name that begins pompously, or glamorously, and ends disappointingly. The 'Mitzzi' is so romantic, so seductive, and for an instant, the 'M' sound of the last name promises to add to its delightfulness by repetition of a charming sound."

"So," he continues, "when it turns out 'Mudlark,' the whole thing falls flat on its face and, in one l'il name, you have followed one of the classic lines of comedy—you've led a character up the heights and just when he was about to reach the peak, you booted him in the pants. People, because they delight in other people's disappointments, will laugh at that."

As for Dumpington, Capp writes, "I wanted a name for a character who was dirty, fat, rich, aloof, and lazy. . . First I whopped up 'Dump' because it had the proper nasty aura, and then I added 'ington' because anything ending in -ington somehow sounds aloof. . . I added 'Van Lump' because it is a well-known American comic strip fact that anybody with 'Van' in the middle of his name is mighty rich and because 'Lump' is a shocking, disappointing, and lazy ending to anything that begins as grandly as 'Dumpington Van'."

SMALL BUSINESSES

Because big companies attract the most attention, we tend to forget that America is still a land of "small" businesses. Of the 3,500,000 businesses operating today, only 500,000 are big enough to be incorporated, and the vast majority of them are quite small.

State's Ball Team Has Many Veterans

State College's horsehiders are getting the season off to a flying start, having played five games in the last two weeks.

The first three tilts were practice affairs and the Staters had little trouble disposing of their opponents, all of them service teams.

With the start of the regular season, the locals had a little more trouble, losing a double-header to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, 6-2 and 8-6.

Costly fielding errors proved to be the Staters' downfall in the first game, the Aztecs "collecting" a total of five bobbles.

Although not a very optimistic start, big things are expected of the baseball team on the Mesa this season.

The Aztec club has many veterans back this year and a good sprinkling of transfers along with players up from the frosh. Standout sluggers thus far are John Herman, outfielder and Bob Nelson, at first base.

Harry Olsen and Gene Pohl are looking good on the pitching mound and the other half of the battery is a tossup between Al Fodor and John Cares.

Nelson has a firm hold on the keystone sack, and Jack Wilkins is holding down the hot corner. Shortstop and second base are open positions with three men scrambling for each spot.

It looks as if Karl Goodwalt, Art Preston and Herman have the outfield spots all sewed up at the present time.

Dick Barnes and Sam Drake, pitchers, have not reported yet, having just finished with basketball.

WIT and WISDOM

The constable in a country town was also the veterinarian. One night his telephone rang and his wife answered.

"Is Mr. Jenkins there?" an agitated voice inquired.

"Do you want my husband in his capacity as constable or veterinarian?"

"Both, madam," came the reply. "We can't get our dog's mouth open—and there's a burglar in it."

Rufus, charged with theft, was on the witness stand and the judge sought to discover if he knew the value of an oath.

"Rufus, if you tell a lie under oath, do you know what happens?"

"Yassah, Judge, Ah do: I goes to Hell."

"And if you tell the truth," persisted the judge.

"Ah goes straight to jail."

My neighbor's son was standing by watching his mother dressing a chicken. He watched as she opened the gizzard with a knife, saw the bits of undigested grain, grass, and the white pebbles fall from it. He pointed and said:

"Look what fell out of the chicken's pocketbook."

Ann: "How did you find the weather while you were away?" Polly: "Oh we just went outside, and there it was."

What is it? When you buy it, it is black; when you use it, it is red; when you throw it away it is white.

Answer: Coal.

PREDICTS . . .

That Grossmont high school varsity baseball team will be the dark horse of the 1950 Coast Prep League. Note, Mike Morrow watch out. . . That La Jolla high school, pre-season favorite for the metro variety cinderpath title, will have trouble with the Chula Vista high school powerhouse. From this corner, it looks like the Spartans will capture their first varsity track title. . . That Billy Sharman, U.S.C. basketball star, will be picked on the 1949-50 All-American team. . . That the San Francisco Dons, defending champions in the N.C.A.A. basketball championships being held in Madison Square Garden, will bow out in the first round of tournament play.

Aztecs Open Track Season With Victory

San Diego State College Aztecs opened cinderpath warfare last weekend with a resounding victory over Pepperdine College of Los Angeles.

The Aztecs, slightly overrated in the sport columns, rang up most of their points in the weight and distance events, with Charles Kohl turning in a 4:25.8 effort in the mile run. This was one of the four new meet records.

The Aztecs, led by Bob Mahon and Dick Straub, picked up a majority of their points in the sprints and hurdles.

Monterey Jack Razzeto set a new school record in the high jump, with a 6-ft., 4½-in. effort.

STATE ENDS BASKETBALL SEASON WITH LOSS TO PEPS

San Diego State College ended its 1949-50 basketball schedule with a loss to Pepperdine College last week.

The Aztecs had a good year, winning 15 while losing ten. This record is actually better than it indicates, for the Staters lost six games by less than five points.

San Diego ended up third in conference standings, behind Pepperdine and San Jose, with a 5-5 won-lost record.

The Aztecs are losing all five of their first stringers, leaving Coach George Ziegenfuss looking ahead to next year with a pained expression, despite good reserve material.

Those graduating are Bill Hutchinson and Rigo Rodriguez, both two year lettermen; Tom Keesey and Don Nuttall, three year award winners and State's own Mr. Basketball, Dick Barnes, who earned his fourth letter this season.

Bean Growers To Hear Of New Pest Controls

Wire worm control in lima bean fields, by a method of seed treatment using Benzenehexachloride dust, will be presented at the three Agricultural Extension Service meetings to be held by Bernarr J. Hall, Farm Advisor.

Monday, March 13—Encinitas Grammar School, 7:30 p.m.

Thursday, March 16—Ernest Dietrich Ranch, Sorrento 7:30 p.m.

Monday, March 20, — Otay Mesa Clubhouse, 7:30 p.m.

Fungicidal seed treatment tests with Speggon and Phygon dust, lima bean spacing and new heat resistant variety trials will also be presented. Bean growers from various districts will discuss results of their tests: Henry and Herman Piper, Carl and Fritz Roll, Carl Dallett, Otay Mesa; James Schutte, Bonita; Frank Knechtel, Del Mar; Bruno, Dan and Harley Denk, Richard and George Scott and Alex and Herbert Lux, Encinitas.

All bean growers of San Diego County are invited to attend these meetings and learn how more even plant stands may be obtained with the new inexpensive insecticides and fungicides, states Mr. Hall.

Urges Care In Buying Entire Flock of Hens

Buying an entire flock of laying hens usually means buying someone else's diseases, warns Farm Advisor, Robert H. Adolph. Some farm egg producers are now offering straight houses or whole flocks of laying hens for sale.

Adolph says such sales do not always mean a low rate of lay. A poultryman may sell a flock because of an unfavorable egg record, ration. Another poultryman, wanting to expand his operation, jumps at the chance to buy a whole flock of laying hens. However, he may be buying more than he bargained for.

The present economic situation with the sale of large numbers of started or laying birds brings up the problem of transferring infectious diseases. Respiratory diseases especially are spread this way. The infected hen is the most common carrier of infectious colds, for instance.

Cutting corners by buying started chicks, laying hens, started poults and breeders usually cost more money and grief than the time saved is worth. Mr. Adolph says some day old chicks or poults are far safer.

Production Record for Ferndale, Calif., Cow

Here is a cow that so far in her lifetime could have supplied every man, woman and child in a town the size of San Jose or Fresno with one quart of whole fresh milk. Silken Lady's Ruby, a member of the Coppini herd, at Ferndale, California, recently completed her thirteenth official record, making a total lifetime production of 10,048 pounds of fat and 181,977 pounds of milk.

Farm Advisor F. W. Dorman of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service says Ruby can contribute her success to the fact that she belongs to a herd whose owner has emphasized lifetime production for many years.

Appearance

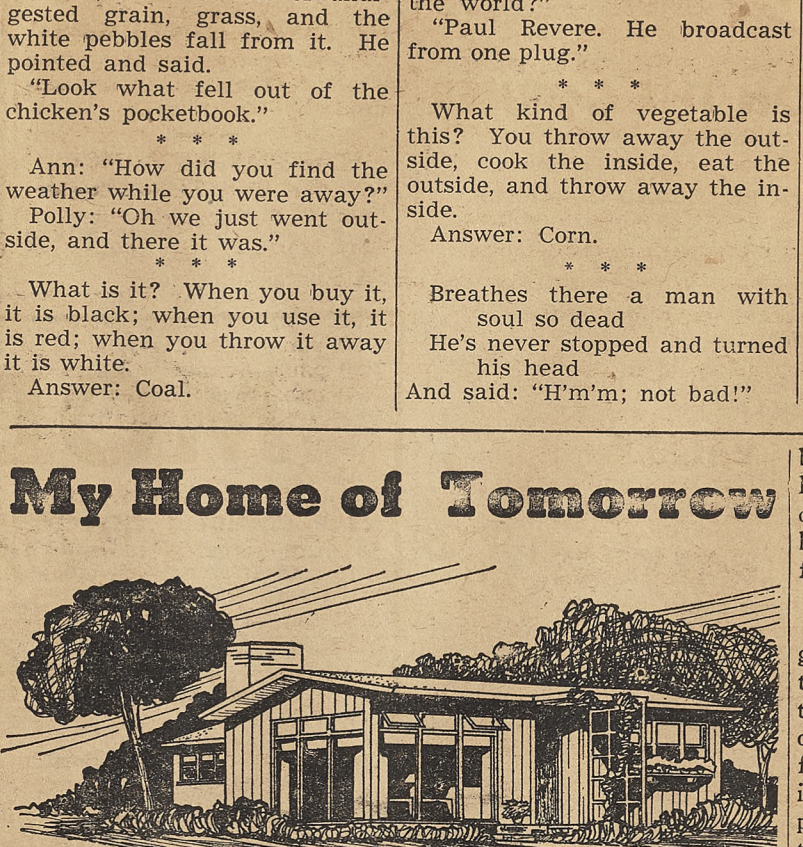

A low pitched roof with a gravel surface is used in this plan to keep a feeling of being lower to the ground and more spread out in area. The trellis at the front and the plant shelf are important features from the standpoint of adding color and distinction to the front. The interesting full length windows as shown and vertical siding gives just enough of a modern touch to the house as a whole without contradicting its basically conventional appearance.

My Home of Tomorrow

By FRANK DIEDERICKS
Home Planning Editor

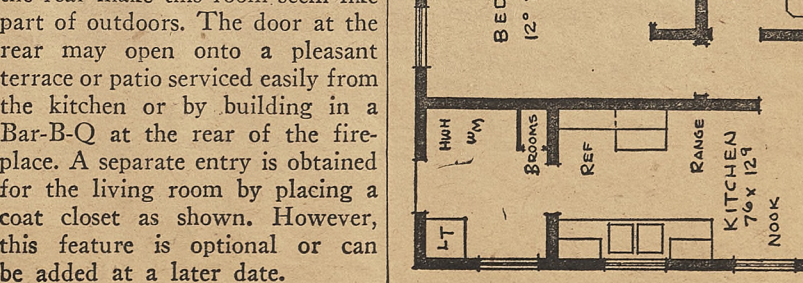

A definite sense of spaciousness is noticeable in this plan, and yet the overall area is only 836 sq. ft. The elimination of excess hallway and the compact arrangement of the rooms gives each area a more generous size and allows an open feeling to materialize. The width of the unit is 30 ft. 6 in. overall and the depth is 33 feet 6 inches.

LIVING ROOM-DINING ROOM

Two groups of large full length windows and the french door at the rear make this room seem like part of outdoors. The door at the rear may open onto a pleasant terrace or patio serviced easily from the kitchen or by building in a Bar-B-Q at the rear of the fireplace. A separate entry is obtained for the living room by placing a coat closet as shown. However, this feature is optional or can be added at a later date.

KITCHEN-SERVICE

Altho small in overall area the kitchen is so arranged that its convenience is quickly apparent. It is designed in "pullman" style, the sink counter along the outside wall and the service fixtures with added work counter between on the inside wall. An area is left free of fixtures so that a dining space can be had either with tables and chairs or a built-in booth. The service porch leads out directly to the rear yard and is large enough not only for the necessary laundry equipment but also a broom closet and extra storage space under the window.

BEDROOMS

The sleeping or "private" section of the house takes up the entire right side with the bedrooms at front and back with the bath between. The rear room is the larger and is provided with a large double wardrobe. The connecting hall is short and has in it a full size linen closet.

APPEARANCE

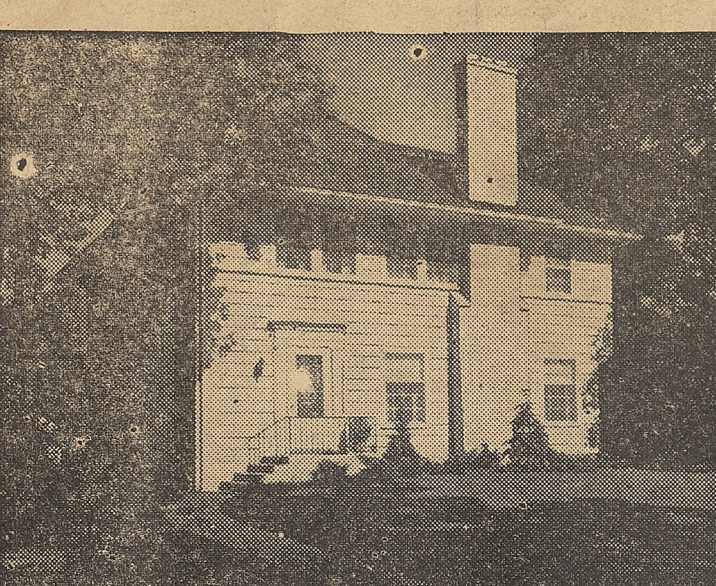

A low pitched roof with a gravel surface is used in this plan to keep a feeling of being lower to the ground and more spread out in area. The trellis at the front and the plant shelf are important features from the standpoint of adding color and distinction to the front. The interesting full length windows as shown and vertical siding gives just enough of a modern touch to the house as a whole without contradicting its basically conventional appearance.

PLANS AVAILABLE

Old House Gains New Life

After remodeling, this home is modern but conservative in style.

Porch makes outdoor living room.

These changes and the elimination of the attic dormer window changed the roof line, making it more irregular. The new roof was covered with fire-resistant asphalt shingles, widely used for remodeling work as well as for new construction. Dark-colored shingles were chosen from the wide range of available hues.

One of the first steps in modernization was to take off the old-fashioned front porch. A new porch was added at the side of the house toward the rear. A front entrance way of traditional design was constructed.

The house was widened. The fireplace was moved so that the chimney would be at the front of the house, where its stonework adds an accent note.

Volcanic Popcorn Used in Building

Perlite, a volcanic ore which explodes like popcorn when it is properly heated, is coming into use in the building industry as a plastering material and concrete aggregate, says American Builder, authoritative building magazine.

Perlite is prepared by heating it in special furnaces. It explodes into a mass of tiny bubbles. Each bubble consists of an air cell surrounded by a tough, glassy shell. The lightweight material has insulating properties, high compressive strength and is moisture-proof.

Perlite-gypsum mixes for plastering are already on the market. The material is highly resistant to cracking.

GEHRES ACCEPTS

leave school when he was 13 to help support his mother and family of four sisters. He entered high school when he was 12 years old and worked after school as a clerk. His mother is from an old New England family.

Gehres recently retired from the Navy, following a 32-year stint which he began as an enlisted man prior to the outbreak of World War I. During that war he was commissioned an Ensign and saw action in the North Atlantic. He came to the Pacific Coast in 1920, and entered naval aviation in 1926.

At the beginning of World War II, he was in command of Fleet Air Wing Four, composed of the famed San Diego-built PBV patrol bombers. Gehres was at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, when the Japanese attacked there in June, 1942, and was in command of all Naval Aviation in the North Pacific until September, 1944. He was appointed the Navy's first aviation commodore in 1943 and reverted to the rank of Captain, at his own request, in 1944 to take command of the carrier "USS Franklin."

FOUGHT OFF JAPS

Gehres' exploits while commanding that carrier recently was commemorated in the motion picture "Task Force." Soon after assuming command, his ship was attacked by Jap kamikaze fighters and later, during an engagement off the coast of Japan in March, 1945, his vessel was nearly destroyed by Japanese dive bombers. Gehres succeeded in bringing the ship back to New York City with 703 officers and men out of an original complement of 3,200.

Holder of eleven Navy decorations, Gehres commanded the U. S. Naval Air Station at North Island from July, 1945 to September, 1948 and was in command as Director of Naval Officer Procurement, Los Angeles, from October, 1948 through April, 1949. He retired April 30 of last year as Rear Admiral.

Although Gehres, who prefers not to use his Navy title, is a newcomer to politics, his family background should be of benefit, for his mother-in-law, Mrs. Howard F. Worth of La Mesa, long was active in Democratic affairs in California. In 1912 she served as Democratic National Committeewoman, and received a personal letter of commendation from President Woodrow Wilson for her part in securing his election in California.

HEAD OF A FAMILY

The 52-year-old Navy veteran is married and has one daughter, a stepson and a stepdaughter. The latter are children of his wife, Rhoda, by her former marriage. About his stepchildren he said, "I've raised them since they were in diapers. They are just the same as my own."

His daughter, Leslie Virginia, 21, was a student at San Diego State College and his stepson, Comdr. Dexter C. Rumsey, a naval aviator, rose to his present rank from an aviation cadet. Comdr. Rumsey is married and has two children. Rounding out Gehres' "Navy" family is his stepdaughter, Rhoda Elizabeth Moore, whose husband also is a Naval Aviation Commander. The Moores have a nine-year-old boy.

A forthright advocate of the competitive enterprise system, Gehres at the outset of his campaign to represent San Diego County in Congress declared, "Socialism is not a scare word, it's a very real threat. It is a threat to the very homes, jobs, and freedoms of every American. As a private citizen, before I ever dreamed of becoming a political candidate, I went around San Diego County urging citizens of every faith, creed, color and political party to fight socialism. I'm now having to eat my own words and practice what I preach. When I get to Washington, I intend to fight, with everything in my power, against the creeping paralysis which is spreading over America through crushing taxation and government regimentation."

Ramblin' Around

R. E. Anderson got a private telephone in Lakeside with his deep well drilling equipment! Anyway, that's the way it worked. One day he bought the new rig and the next day, presto! He gets one of the few private lines in Lakeside.

It makes us feel good when we're missed. Just received an airmail letter from W. G. Ewert in New Orleans: "Missed two copies; please renew subscription, and send copies of issues missed. Thanks." Thank YOU, Mr. Ewert. We like that.

"Hey, boy! Wrap up two back copies and mail to Mr. Ewert!" "What's that?" You say the boy's gone? Gone where?" "You say he told you his great aunt just died?" I don't believe it! Check the ball lot down the street!

Yup, Spring's here! I'll mail Mr. Ewert's papers myself.

X-Ray in Lakeside—March 17-18

Speaking of baseball, Otis Kursave is always ready to go to bat for a good cause. Didn't need to ask twice to get him to run a theatre trailer on the X-Ray coming to Lakeside March 17 and 18.

X-Ray in Lakeside—March 17-18

Plan now to have your chest X-Ray taken in Lakeside next Friday or Saturday. The unit will be at the Barker and Prindle Market parking lot from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., each of these days.

"Any strings, any bass, any wood instruments today?" There must be some, stored away in homes, just gathering dust. Would you be willing to donate, or loan, these instruments to the schools to further the musical education of our children?

If so, please call Mrs. Wanda Walker, H. 4-5443, or Mrs. Isabelle Johnson, H. 4-7388.

We read in the morning paper that a so-called love bandit who was tried for attacking a young housewife got the death penalty. Where did this happen? Now don't get excited. It was not in California. It was in Dallas, Texas, one state where they don't fool around with that sort of thing. Courts in that state go on the principal that vermin who attack women or children are better off dead. But in our golden state they get ten years and suspend the sentence.

Do you know what the Welcoming Wagon is? Neither did we until a few days ago. Now we're all for it. Idea originated in what state? Texas, of course. Now when a Native Son has to admit that any other state even exists, something is definitely off balance.

How many of you have taken the time to drive around the Valley's back roads lately? The growth will startle you. New homes springing up on every eighth knoll. At this rate inside of five years it will be built solidly from La Mesa to Alpine.

What we fail to understand is why anyone gets in a tizzy about politics. After all, no man living is able to please everyone...

Some classy looking suits in Long's windows, and oh! those ties! Whoof!... We understand that the Elks are finally going to get underway with an El Cajon Lodge. Well there are enough Elks in the Valley to make a vow of a lodge... Maybe we are off the beam again, but we understand that there is such a thing as child labor laws. These laws say that you can only work a child so long. The nation has an eight hour day for adults. But youngsters attending High School have to spend the major part of the day in school, then work 'till midnight to finish their home work. Why not cut out some of the frills in these athletic footaraws and do some work in school? Just what is done in school anyway?...

We note that certain weekly newspapers put out the claim of having the largest circulation in the County. What we want to figure out, does that mean free copies or paid subscriptions. If paid subscriptions, paid when? Is a subscription that expired in 1947 still a paid up subscription, or do these papers put a subscriber on for life when he pays one subscription. The "Star" doesn't make extravagant claims.

Grossmont Guff

By MARTI

If you were startled by creatures flying (I use the word loosely) around Lakeside, asking for strange things such as a four leaf clover or a pomegranate, you can be assured that it was merely some guys and gals on a scavenger hunt.

The event was a party given in honor of Mary Carille at the Conrad home. The kids attending were Mary, Carol Lee Vallin, Mary Jay Dunham, Joyce Langlois, Ted Macgillivray, Al Cross, George Padillo, Alan Diamond and Vic Langlois. Hostesses were Gerry Conrad and Marcia Spencer. They were assisted by Mrs. Morton Carille, Mrs. Byron Conrad and Mrs. Raymond Spencer.

Seen sportin' a new 1950 Chev Sedanette is Bob Condon. Grossmont's first nominating convention was held last Friday, March 3. Enthusiasm ran wild. The candidates who won the nomination for president of the ASB were John Jensen and Le Roy Cooper. John Taylor, Bernard Goroche, and Shirley Sweetland are the candidates for vice president.

Seek New Laurels For Near Champion

Plans are under way for the Afghan Hound Club of California specialty show, to be held in conjunction with the Harbor Cities Kennel Club all breed dog show in June, at Long Beach.

In the comparatively short time since this club was formed in 1947, the Afghan has spread greatly. Entries in last year's specialty show at Long Beach were the largest on record.

"Thief's Trezhur of Crown Crest"

Representing the kennels of Mrs. Edna March of Lakeside, at the specialty show will be "Thief's Trezhur of Crown Crest," an Afghan that has been winning consistently at all shows. She is well on the way to her rating of "Champion."

Trophies will be elaborate silver and bronze items and if possible, a complimentary trophy will be presented to each person entering one or more Afghans.

Letters to all members and exhibitors are now being prepared.

Mrs. March may also have another Afghan in the show, "Mountain King of Crown Crest," who is now being entered in shows at Phoenix and Tucson.

"The Afghan is a lovable dog, very intelligent and fleet of foot," Mrs. March gives as three of the reasons she is enthusiastic about this breed of dogs, only recently introduced to this country.

Lakeside Welfare Ass'n Discusses Year's Budget

A meeting of the Lakeside Welfare Association was held at the school Monday evening, March 6. A discussion of expenditures of the past year and the proposed budget for the coming year took up most of the time.

Several requests for funds by local youth organizations were tabled until such time as personal representation could be made.

Lakeside residents were invited to attend the second annual Family Fair to be held in the Conference Building in Balboa Park, May 13 and 14.

Mrs. Mabel Haptonstall, secretary, will attend a meeting at the San Diego Children's Home, March 15, to represent the Lakeside Association at a rally of Community Chest officials and workers.

E. M. Walker, chairman, presided.

How many of us, as we tread up and down the road of life, realize that the things that really count in this world are the ones you can't buy?

Among these the smile counts an awfully lot in our daily lives and seems to be the most abundant. That good bye morning smile. The smile from those we meet at work and on the street. The farewell smile at the train or bus station. The giggling smiles of little children when returning home at evening. To me these count more in the course of a day. As "Pop" George said, "You don't know it now son, but those are the happiest moments of your life."

To receive a smile one has to be given. Too many of us wait for the other to smile first. "Smile and the whole world will smile with you."

This is National Smile Week. So whether you feel like it or not, you're supposed to smile, citizen! Here's one that ought to raise a national smile, by C. B. Walton.

Telephone Co. Starts Work on New Office Bldgs.

Moving ahead rapidly with its program to provide additional telephone service in the El Cajon exchange, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company has started construction work on new central office buildings in Lakeside and Alpine. It was announced this week by Manager Sidney S. Campbell.

He said the Lakeside building, located on Woodside drive about a mile west of the business center, will measure 26 by 33 ft. The Alpine structure, located on Victoria drive near Highway 80, will have dimensions of 22 by 33 ft. Both buildings being constructed of concrete block, are scheduled for completion late this spring.

The manager pointed out that the two new central offices will house dial switching equipment designed to serve telephones in the respective communities. When placed into operation, both offices will become satellites of the El Cajon exchange dial switching center at 599 E. Main st., El Cajon.

Installation work on the switching equipment for the buildings and the rearrangement of cables to "tie-in" the central offices to the network of communications facilities will start shortly before the buildings are completed, Campbell said.

The introduction of the Lakeside and Alpine offices will make a total of three serving the El Cajon exchange. H. H. Peterson, San Diego general contractor, is constructing the new buildings for the telephone company.

"The second step in Pacific Telephone's program of central office expansion here, following the purchase of property sites for the new dial centers, now is well under way," the manager stated.

"Several more steps will be necessary for the Company to take—installation of equipment, rearrangement of cables, and testing—before the new offices may become integral parts of the telephone system."

Barbershoppers Entertain at PTA

The Lakeside chapter of the SPEBSQSA entertained a capacity house at the March 7 meeting of the Lindo Park PTA.

Allen G. Mitchell emceed the program which was directed by Mrs. Martha Metcalfe. Specialty numbers were by Walt Kimzey and A. C. Metcalfe, in addition to quartet harmonizing and songs by the chorus.

Mrs. Jack McLean is program chairman for the PTA.

At the business meeting conducted by Mrs. V. K. Polk, president, the following were selected to serve as a nominating committee to report at the April meeting: Mmes. Arthur Foster, P. L. Ferris and Rupert Linley.

A committee of First Grade Room Mothers, headed by Mrs. Kriel, served refreshments.

Valley Music Store Completes Alterations

A new service will be offered to music teachers and pupils when the sound proof studio rooms are completed at the Valley Music Store, 124 W. Main st., El Cajon, announces Mrs. Bea Dupuis.

A feature of the studio will be a separate entrance, making it available for night use.

Churches Unite In Program for Near East Relief

Radio and television are playing a major role in the united Orthodox churches for overseas appeal of Protestant and Eastern relief, reconstruction, and church aid, according to Fr. O. M. Kellison, Provost of Chapman College and past President of the Southern California C. C. P. C.

Nine national coast-to-coast network broadcasts, six fifteen-minute dramatic programs over more than 800 local stations, spot announcements over nearly every station in the country and special programs in many cities, are radio's contribution to the needy people of the world.

"One Great Hour of Sharing," an event which will bring worshippers in 100,000 local churches around the country closer to those who suffer in Europe, Asia and the Near East, will culminate Sunday, March 12, at 11 a. m.

Through "Operation Good Samaritan," a series of stories involving individual refugees in Europe, Palestine, Japan, China and Burma, and DP's in this country, radio listeners by March 12 will have lived through the tragedy and despair of those who need much and the hope that comes with a little aid. This series is being aired locally by several stations.

The final programs from Los Angeles, scheduled for Saturday, March 11, will come over KNX at 3:30 to 4 p. m. and KECA at 10:15 to 10:45 p. m.

This latter will be a presentation of the needs of the world which Christians should be ready to meet; the former, a roundup story of the Christian Challenge to be presented on Sunday, March 12.

YOUTH INJURED IN TRAFFIC MISHAP

Lawrence Meisner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Meisner, received a sprained ankle, bruises and cuts early Sunday morning when the car in which he was riding swerved to miss an oncoming car near Second st. and Highway 80.

The driver, whose name could not be obtained, and other passengers were not injured.

The accident was attributed to heavy fog.
